

Supplementary Figure 3. The sequence electropherograms from position 299 to 372. Length heteroplasmy in the C-tract caused overlaid signals further downstream that were not correctly interpreted by the software and apparently taken at face value. The phantom mutation A366G remained in the data set.

