

Danica Boban, dr. med.

danica.boban@mefst.hr

Rođena u Makarskoj 1991., diplomirala na Medicinskom fakultetu Sveučilišta u Zagrebu 2015. godine. Pripravnički staž odradila u KBC Sestre milosrdnice (Zagreb) od studenog 2015. do travnja 2016. Od srpnja 2016. do listopada 2016. radila u Zavodu za hitnu medicinu Splitsko-dalmatinske županije, ispostava Makarska.

Od rujna 2016. zaposlena kao asistentica na Katedri za anatomiju. Od 2016. polaznica doktorskog studija Klinička medicina utemeljena na dokazima (EBM) na Medicinskom fakulteta Sveučilišta u Splitu. Tema doktorskog istraživanja na kojem trenutno radi je utjecaj vina na proliferativnu fazu cijeljenja infarkta miokarda u štakorskom modelu.

Danica Boban, M. D.

danica.boban@mefst.hr

Born in 1991. in Makarska, Croatia. Dr. Boban earned her medical doctorate in 2015. at University of Zagreb School of Medicine. From November 2015. to April 2016. she was an intern at Sisters of Mercy University Hospital in Zagreb. From July 2016. to October 2016. she worked as physician in EMS of Split – Dalmatia County in Makarska.

She holds a position of research and teaching assistant at Department of Anatomy at University of Split School of Medicine since September 2016. She has been enrolled in Evidence based medicine graduate program at University of Split School of Medicine since 2016. Topic of her PhD research is effects of wine on proliferative phase of myocardial infarct healing in a rat model.